

1: I own the codes not you

Please note that while the domain and hosting are owned by you, the underlying code and development files remain the exclusive property of Cyber Coeus Enterprise. Your payment grants you a one-year license to use the website; you are effectively leasing our proprietary code for that duration.

2: Website Suspension

Cyber Coeus Enterprise is not liable for website suspensions due to phishing, scamming, or any malicious activity by clients or end-users. Clients are fully responsible for any violations and must cover all costs related to domain, hosting, redevelopment, and any legal or administrative fees.

3: Refund Policy

Refunds are only considered within 7 days of website delivery and apply solely to development fees. Costs for domains, hosting, SSLs, emails, VPS and third-party tools are non-refundable.

4. Crypto Payment Disclaimer

Our websites utilize a manual cryptocurrency payment system, which may be vulnerable to potential hacks or unauthorized interference. To mitigate risk, administrators are required to regularly monitor wallet addresses both from the admin dashboard and by logging in as a user.

Clients must also ensure that end-users only make payments after receiving direct confirmation from the designated account manager.

Cyber Coeus Enterprise shall not be held liable for any financial losses, data compromises, or damages resulting from vulnerabilities, hacks, or misuse of the payment system. All responsibility for securing and monitoring wallets rests with the client.

5: Termination of Service

All services from Cyber Coeus Enterprise are valid for one (1) year unless stated otherwise in writing. We reserve the right to terminate service at any time due to lack of

- * cooperation,
- * unreasonable behavior,
- * abuse, or
- * breach of our Terms of Service.

In such cases, we are not obligated to provide backups or source code and may block access to our platforms. By engaging our services, you agree to maintain professional conduct at all times.

Kindly be informed that while scam-labeled domains (SCAM ) can be reported by external parties, there are proactive measures in place to manage such occurrences efficiently.

In the event that a domain is flagged or reported, we typically respond by acquiring a new domain and hosting package. Domain replacement costs ₱35,000.

It's important to note that in many cases, only the domain is affected, and the hosting remains intact. However, if the report is deemed serious or escalated, the hosting provider may also suspend the server.

Host replacement = $47.00

Please rest assured, we maintain strategic contingencies to ensure continued operational uptime and quick restoration if such situations arise.
